

Our events provide education and training for several thousand steel designers every year.

Experience counts so take advantage of ours: Millions of questions, thousands of research projects, hundreds of customers and a dedicated team of experts all giving individual attention to your questions about steel.

Meet us face to face or via telephone support, on our website or at the regular technical briefings, seminars and events we hold.

For world-class technical support start here: www.steelessentials.info

